Subject: challenge for wayne (altec style bass horn)
Posted by replay on Mon, 17 Dec 2001 22:41:21 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

hi wayne, for my next project i'd love to build a Pi speaker with a vintage look. a simple 2 way high efficiency speaker based around a 15" kilomax driver housed in a classic altec style bass bin. is there a compromise in sound with this enclosure versus your current designs?what trade-offs or benefits do you see? could you find the time to plot dimensions for this box (a low frequency of 40hz would be fine, lower would be great)? just thought I'd throw it by you, with all that free time you will have over the holidays (yeah right!)best wishes to you and your familymerry christmas,george

http://www.voiceofthetheatre.com/816A.th.htm