I'd love to have wood horns with a radial 90x40 pattern. I've been enamoured with the wood horn offerings from TAD, from JK Audio and the DIY information from Yuichi. I'd like to find a manufacturer somewhere in North America willing to make horns like these. The cost would undoubtedly be fairly high because they are relatively labor-intensive. They can't be made on a lathe and would require CNC machining and assembly. But they would be the cream of the crop, in my opinion.
