Hi Wayne, Thanks for your response. I would also like to ask you if the midrange quality of Alpha-based one and two Pi is the same. I.e. the only change for the passing from one Pi to two Pi is the benefit of deeper bass ? I am asking this because in the hifi-line, there is often some midrange degradation for the largest cones, especially when they are used with no low-pass crossover (often a huge peaks and irregularities in the 3-5kHz region, and often not shown on the driver SPL plot but still audible). TIA, O'Tor
