

---

Subject: Re: Button Heads

Posted by bmar on Sat, 02 Mar 2002 17:25:21 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I like these for a finished look for when you can have a counter bore for the regular cap screw to nest inside. The head on these is a little larger than a cap screw. The key is hex key is also smaller so you can not apply as much torque, and over tighten. This would have a nice large head like the Pan Heads you like. It just uses a allen key.

button head cap screw