Subject: Tipping my 4 Pi's up slightly in the front
Posted by Patrick on Sun, 31 Mar 2002 14:34:46 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I've found that in my room, putting a couple of rubber pucks under the front of each speaker (about 1/2" tall) opens up the sound and lends the bass definition.I suspect that this helps because I use the Paramours, which tend toward the lush, and because of the oddities of my room. Also because I like to move around while listening, so pointing the tweeter upward gives me a better balance.Patrick