
Subject: Re: huh?

Posted by freddy on Wed, 03 Apr 2002 23:21:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi George if your horn has a fairly constant horizontal power distribution (CD type with little or no "neck") then rolloff will start above ~3.5Khz - most of the old-school horns had HF beaming from their natural expansion's long neck geometry which provides on-axis HF acoustic EQ - DB Keele Jr and others worked to develop the new breed of horns - old horns can sound pretty neat in mono
Freddy