Subject: Re: The part I can never understand...
Posted by Manualblock on Sat, 26 Aug 2006 11:18:39 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Yep; I would hazard to say if a person were really serious about all this he would have to collect mono recordings from the fifties since they seem to be the best recorded and least desecrated.I like to fool with this stuff but I try not to have any illusions. It just dawned on me while listening to the computor that I hadn't turned the system on for a couple days yet music played constantly through the streaming radio on the PC.