Thanks Wayne for your sugestions and the links. I will study up on the Spice simulation to model the L-pad effects just to answer my own curiosity (once a problem is presented, it always seems to beg me to try and solve it, and it looks like the program links you gave me will get me there).Best, Tom A