Subject: Re: Wayne, check this out...
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 07 May 2002 16:29:41 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I prefer to use 1" compression horns in two-way systems, because 2" exit devices don't have the top octave performance. They're just too big. Compensation helps a lot though. If you order a PSD3003 from Eminence right now, you'll find they're not in stock. Anything else will be at your door in days, but the PSD3003 and its diaphragms aren't available. I suspect they are preparing to supercede it with a replacement.