Subject: Re: pi one/pi two plans
Posted by fishski13 on Wed, 08 May 2002 15:41:31 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

wayne,i am interested in a building a pair of the pi one or two. since this would be my first time building a speaker cabinet, i would like to check out the plans before i decide to buy a kit or completed pair. i also am undecided between the one vs. two. i'm not a "bass freak" but rather more concerned with achieving rhythm, speed, and detail. my current set up is a 50 watt jolida 1701 hybrid ss/tube integrated amp paired with a pair Sound Dynamics RT-3 and a cheap but new Pioneer dvd (sounds better than my 5 year old Denon). the Sound Dynamics have a serious mid-upper bass thump that drives me crazy on certain recordings (mostly acoustic double bass on older jazz recordings); overall tonal character is dark. i also have a SET amp project (Bottlehead Paramour) in my near future and am concerned with the ability of a small amp to move such large drivers found in your designs. should i go with a pi one with an 8 inch driver? how big of a room can either of these speakers fill? i appreciate your time.corey