
Subject: my 4 Pi Pro's SIZE has caused me trouble
Posted by Sam P. on Fri, 17 May 2002 10:19:20 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

in the opposite direction. The little lady never EVER whined about how full the LR was...until I built those teeny, tiny, 4 Pi Pro's who perform close to the jbl/altec, that are now "too large". So I showed her the 10 Pi pictures and offered to replace one pair of jbl/altec speakers with them...but I think she is afraid I will build the 10 Pi's, and keep what I have now...she is probably right:)One week, and she leaves for Europe for 5 weeks. And I'll need to keep the battery in her pickup truck charged somehow...maybe lots of trips to the wood store would help matters. I told her to bring me a pair of Lowther Dx2's for a souvenir...it would be hilarious to build the 10 Pi's, and have her return with the Lowther drivers...I can always sleep out in the shop till she cools off:)You know you have too many speakers when your wife offers to bring people home to audition them for purchase and removal from your domain. She never said if I get the money though... Sam