Subject: Re: Which Pi Speakers work well at low/medium volume Posted by Garland on Sun, 19 May 2002 11:29:32 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi Peter,I just wanted to comment that one of the best aspects I've experienced with my Theater 4's is their ability to play at both high and low volumes and maintain a pleasing dynamic and tonal quality. They are the first speakers which I've owned that do this so well. So I can recommend the Theater 4 Pi if you want this ability to sound good at lower levels. I am driving mine with 3.5 watts of 2A3 power and can easily get over 100dB's if I want and suffer little distortion, but low, "after bed-time" levels, are still amazingly real sounding!I'm in the process of helping a friend build a pair of 2 Pi's and will report on how they perform as soon as they're done! (Assuming he'll let me borrow them!!!)G.

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com