

---

Subject: I ordered around 7:30 this am,
Posted by Sam P. on Sat, 15 Jun 2002 20:06:18 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

and got the "sold out" email by just after 1 pm...if you don't hear from them, I think you can assume they are ordered OK. The only time they have contacted me is when stuff is sold out; if the order goes thru OK, the stuff will just show up about a week later. That's when I fully believe the order was accepted, when the goods are in my hands! The form confirmation just means that they have your info, not that they still have the items. hey, if you are the rascal that "got" "MY" 2345 horns last time...grrrr...did you ever hook them up? It would not surprise me to find out they take the orders, throw them in a basket, and fill them at random till they run out of stuff, this whole deal feels too much like the lottery or epay at times. But JBL has the best deals ever :)
Sam