Cool. The reason I dont build a pair of PI speakers is mostly because I found out about them too late, and also because I dont have enough money! :-(I could build a pair of 2pi's, but I would really then want a pair of 4pis! You know how that goes. Then I would have no money to spend on my computer! hehe. Seriously though, when I get older and out of college and hopefully make decent money, I am going to build a pair of the 3pi Professional all JBL speakers. Unfortunately at that time, I will probably be living in an apartment and will have to stash them at my parents house, and visit them to afford a listening session! The Pi speakers would match up with my Blueprint 1803 a lot better than the small 2 way speakers I have now with 8" woofers.
