Thanks Wayne!Kelly is a great guy and we've done well together on this project.I realize porting will get me lower. I think I just always prefered the sound of sealed. I just like it better. And on pricing, you may be right. I'm not going after the DIY crowd, though. My target is the stock look, drop in crowd. Which I think will pay a bit higher price for a good solution to bass. I can make a panel that sits in the hatch all day for $50, but it won't look stock and take up space.
