Subject: Re: Sound production vs. reproduction
Posted by Paul C. on Sat, 06 Jul 2002 13:05:07 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I just posted a letter from my brother, a guitarist, in the thread Piezo Chirping, dated 7-1-02, with info on guitar cab design requirements.I have seen many bass guitar cabs with different drivers, perhaps a 15" or 18" with a pair of 8" or 10" for midrange punch.  I don't know if these are crossed over or simply wired parallel.Due to changing role of bass guitar in pop/rock, there is a trend away from the heavy boomy bass, to a tone with a more crisp and precise sound... thus multiple smaller drivers.  You see bass cabs now with four 10's, for example.Paul