We'll see what I'll do then. As I said, I can get 59.2mm ID grey PVC tubes. That's only about 1mm off (I could make the port something like 2mm shorter, hehe) and now that I got the tips from you about the veneering I feel that it might be the right way to do it. Is the inside of the port painted black before or after the veneer is applied and trimmed around the hole?/Erik
