

---

Subject: howcumzit?

Posted by steve f on Sun, 04 Aug 2002 18:16:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Just a general question. Why do so many audio 'expert' types react so strongly negative to products that are carefully designed, shared with hobby builders, (for free) and supported by the designers themselves? Especially if the designers are accredited professionals. Guys like Wayne and Bruce Rozenblit of Transcendent Sound always get grief from people who probably haven't done anything creative themselves. I wonder if some of the audio asylum hi-eff forum guys call NASA to improve the space program? Enough complaining. Wayne, would you please send me the current x-over plans for the Theater 4 Pi's? Take care, Steve

---