Posted by EZ_Angus on Sat, 10 Aug 2002 09:27:45 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Thanks wayne: I didn't realize that it mattered which way the dimensions of the port went :^) I am an ok woodworker, a decent kit builder, and am starting to work on scratch building stuff,but I know absolutely nothing about acoustical theory.do the braces go flush against the back wall or in the middled of the chamber, or should they be placed randomly?Kevin