Hi Wayne, I was rereading your old post about "Making speakers disappear" and this made me a little curious once again. Also, you said before that if you have corners, build corner speakers. In a few months I will be building a small, dedicated, listening room which is 12 ft by 15 ft with a 10 feet slightly domed ceiling and I am wondering if I can use the Theater 7Pi for this project. I plan to position it on the short wall. Will this be okay? Will treating the room acoustically be easier with this set-up if ever? This will be driven by the Foreplay/Paramour combo. Best Regards,
