

---

Subject: I Commented over on the Bottlehead Forum...
Posted by Garland on Thu, 29 Aug 2002 14:04:23 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

...in response to someones comment about weak bass, that I was finding the bass a bit boomy and less than taught, though I should have said there was plenty of it. Just not of the best quality. Probably most of the problem is room related. I am currently trying 23ohms of Mills 12watters in place of the 15 ohms Mills I originally had in there. Those Auricaps are great, aren't they?! Adding additional capacitance (100uF/450V instead of 47uF) to the PS of the Paramours seems to tighten up the bass a bit. Also, the Mod to the Paramours described by VoltSecond a few weeks ago seems to add more detail across the board, including the bass. FWIW, some of the improvement may be coming from the new 2004Jr OPT's breaking in. Have a good Holiday, BillG.