Hey,I think this is the same stuff Crown filters their fan cooled amps with.I have also seen the same stuff used in window air conditioners, but thatwould only work for small speakers.(up to 16" x 24") The stuff crown uses is nice and black, very porous and may be found where Crown amps are serviced.I don't know if most folks would have big rolls of it though. Just a thought.This other stuff (see link below) looks charcoal or grey, but definately comes in big rolls and 3/32" thickness. I assume you would want the most porous,they have 4 grades.<http://www.airfiltrationprod.com/media.html>
