Congratulations on finishing! I'm sure you'll get bass either through break-in or placement- it's there. One thing if you didn't add the inductors, by reducing the mids a touch, they make the bass sound a little increased (even tho it's not). Might try that if you didn't already. I have mine in a room with hardwood floors over a basement and real plaster walls, and get lots of bass with the regular Two pi's.
