Subject: Re: Amusing
Posted by Anonymous on Thu, 31 Oct 2002 13:36:20 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

He's been doing this challenge for a long time,even writing checks to amplifier vendors IFthey can prove that their amplifiers have a sonicdifferent to any other brand, if they can prove,he would buy their stuff for this studio.So far, nobody has won the challange. After reading all this (which is new to me), his debate is...a watt is a watt and all an amplifier does is amplify...BUT, he does admit that amplifier do sound different,but to prove "a watt is a watt" he creates those esotericconditions - hehe I don't know but most people DO buy amplifiers becauseof those "little things" that give it personality.His forum is right here;http://www.carsound.com/cgi-bin/UBB_CGI/ultimatebb.cgiRichard Clark is a long time car audio celebrityand winner of many car audio competitions.Audio IS fun stuff and I know Richard is having funwith this testing 1000's of people. Even if 100 peoplegot it correct, he would still be doing the challengesince 100 is minority - hehe$100 - $300 to take the test.