Subject: Re: Hows everyone making out for Christmas?
Posted by spkrman57 on Sat, 21 Dec 2002 10:09:54 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi gang! Yesterday was very hectic day, the cable tv installer came yesterday at 9 am to put my cable in(part of the roadrunner install), then had to wait for the roadrunner installer to arrive. He finally came at 4pm and thought he blew out the modem because of faulty office info on my account. My girlfriend has stomach flu or virus, not sure which. So this morning, I had problem with computer waking up from energy standdown, I powered down and back up, and guess what, my internet is working. Now waiting for the roadrunner to come and finish my e-mail account. I wish I knew the internet was okay when he left last night. So I now have internet at home and plan to be able to participate fully here, and keep my job, since I won't have to sneak at work anymore. Happy Holidays everyone, Won't be able to post much until after the holidays though. Ron (Central Ohio Audio Club)