Subject: Woofer Question
Posted by micahr on Mon, 30 Dec 2002 21:44:38 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hi,I'm new to this froum, but it seems like the right place to post this.  I have a pair of '85 Boston Acoustics A60's (1" tweeter/*" woofer) and the foam is starting to detiorate on one of the woofers.  I was wondering-should I replace the woofers or get them re-foamed?  I've been looking at the speakers that partsexpress.com sells, and it seems that I would get much better speakers (ie made with better materials and speaker technology)for the money.  If anything, can anyone provide some links for where to get new speakers or to get my old ones re-foamed?  Thanks!