Thanks for the quick response-I guess this was a good forum to post in! I'll be sure and call him after the holidays. Can you answer me something that I haven't been able to determine in my speaker building/repair ignorance. What are the advantages of rebuilding an old speaker versus getting a new one made out of newer materials and a more modern speaker design technolgy (of course I assume that newer means better design-please correct me if I'm wrong)? Thanks again for the response.Micah
