Yes. it's the Audio Mirror amp on a Custom Isolation Products acrylic amp stand. Tate Blanchard, who lives in Houston and is a fellow member of the Houston Audio Society, makes them along with equipment racks, etc. The blue LED's even have a variable voltage transformer so you can dim them for nighttime listening. They make a great night light. Don't run in panic when you see the prices. The actual prices are about half the msrp indicated on his web page. Linda calls this stuff "audio bling".
