Funnnnny you should mention that; I was in his suite late in the evening, drink somebody's homebrew and making phallic gestures in the air with George's cigar while explaining my difficult role in an invitro fertilization procedure.....but I digress.....anyway, I noticed precisely the same thing, sitting around the corner from the 7's. That is the kind of thing I thought only I noticed.....You are so right about that.....and it IS an uncommon quality, and a good one. Wayne probably wonders why I didn't sit and listen in front of them at some point; actually, hearing them from where I sat was all I needed to hear. Very cool. It was also fun to discuss our thoughts about various people on the forums and share our insights about these cyber-souls. Glad you made it and found it worthwhile.
