I think you're right. Since I'm going to build the corner horns, I am considering building a bookcase/display case into the front of the horns, and put the tweeter on top. That way they'll look even more like furniture. Or so is the thought. I'll have to prototype it in a CAD program or something to see how it looks, but I think I can make it look right with some effort. We need a bit more furniture anyway.-Ian
