I enjoy watching the big blockbuster action movies at the theatre just for the big screen effect, otherwise I'd just as soon watch movies at home. I only have a 31 inch screen (just a TV), but it's always sharp, and the sound will match or beat any theatre I've heard. Besides, the chairs are more comfortable, the coffee is better, and I can have Guinness or Amber Bach as I watch, or even Mead (which I have taken a big liking to the last few years). Being able to get rid of any of those drinks without missing any of the movie is nice, also. Dave
