Subject: Re: Questions to Michaelz
Posted by Michaelz on Wed, 14 May 2003 21:48:53 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

What driver(s) do you use?What are the dimensions of the box(es)?Are you using reflex or (as it appears) closed box - & do you use any electronic equalisation/compensation?It's a square box with one corner cut off. The square sides are 2' long, based on this is the rest of the dimensions . The closed box serves as the back chamber of the horn. The driver is JBL2245. Basically, the volume in the cone of the driver for front chamber, with the corner piece (deflector), the space between the box and the deflector makes for the horn throat. I use Behringer 3400 for active crossover, no equalisation yet.