What kind of speaker or speaker/amp combination does it take to get full "bloom" from a recording? I have a 300b amp with 15 watts of power and 87db speakers and in order to really enjoy the music I play I need to crank the volume up to 95db or I lose some of the enjoyment of the piece. I have thought of more sensitive speakers but is that enough or does it take a particular type or design of speaker to get full enjoyment without blasting my family.
