I've read most of the articles on Dr. Gizmo, awhile back, and they are very entertaining and enthusiastic, mostly based on his ear rather than technical knowledge, but he was a early crusader for re-introduction of SET in our country. I would suggest to you that many on this board, and especially Wayne, could be of much help to you if you want to build a killer subwoofer or a whole speaker system- check out the archives and designs. Good luck with your project!
