

---

Subject: Just curious...

Posted by Garland on Tue, 01 Jul 2003 17:44:34 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

...what resistor did you swap out and what value went in? I think Neo's problem is probably room related but the balance of freq. response is vital to the enjoyment of music. If rock is your thing and the system doesn't do it right you know it!!! I tried adding a bit of inductance to the woofer's crossover and got what I thought was a pleasing balance of tone only to find after a while that the music was dulled and lacked some excitement. Out came the added coil and the music came back alive. Anyway, in my room the Theater 4's can be a bit too much on some recordings, sounding bright and in your face. Other recordings of similar music sound perfect! G.

---