Subject: Re: looking for a spot
Posted by mikebake on Thu, 04 Sep 2003 23:22:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

So you bought the whole kit and caboodle? 2245's and the cabinet??Okay, I've got those! Still haven't used them much yet. 2245's in 8.8 cu ft cabs, tuned to about 28.5Nice items, aren't they? You don't think much is going on sometimes, then WHOAAA, there goes some DEEEP bass.....with authority.....I've been busy as usual, done some nice live music events; got one this weekend, then next Thursday I make a rare appearance as "sound guy" for some acoustic guitar/vocal thing a guy locally has put together. Features Carrie Newcomer (??) as the headliner, 9 CD's out, etc. etc. I'll be putting a rig together to do the sound for it; kind of a fun extension of the home audio thrill.Load the rig in, setup, do a sound check, then jam the audience with some cool CD's during the break, etc.Kinda fun, because when you make it sound great, everyones happy. What's up in your vicinity??MBB