Subject: Believe it or not 250 watts can come from a quad of EL34s Posted by Scholl on Fri, 12 Sep 2003 12:01:27 GMT View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If the EL34s are run in ultr-pentode mode which is right at the edge of there specs 800v on the plate and 450v on the screen grid than up to 125watts per pair is possible. I had a Bogen KO100 that did 100 watts from a pair and sounded very good. If you search the web enough there is a person who milked the 125 watts out of a pair.

Page 1 of 1 ---- Generated from AudioRoundTable.com