Hey, I used to play those old text-games too. I've played Zork, also this other one called Planetfall (which was way way better than Zork but both were good), and this other one which I cannot remember. I used to play it on one of those old XT computers with a monochrome monitor chugging away at 4.77MHz :P It was so cool! Imagine if we still used those PCs. There would be no PC internet-bank fraud and no hackers, because theres nothing worth hacking on those old machines :PA shame I dont have those games anymore :-(I just downloaded Zork from the link on your post. Have you got any more text games that are on your web server?
