Perfect Testament to a man's personal artistic vision. An inspiration to anyone who has ever persued this hobby. Could not agree more with your statement concerning 811 ringing. Put them in a box surrounded by r13 acoustic insulation and tighten them down. I think many are hearing their source components, not the horn. One question; I believe I saw in previous posts that you have Altec woofers, so I am wondering if you chose the JBL for its sound over the Altec or whether you had heard this combination and particullarly liked it? Thanks For Your time.
