I assume you've been listening to the tractrix horns for a while. I'd just put the new horns in the system for a few weeks and see if the sound grows on you or you find your missing something important in the music from what you experienced with the old horns in the system. A/B'ing is good to find major flaws but if both sound good but different, only time will reveal your preference. Of course, the frustration sets in when one horn plays better loud or with rock, full orchestra, etc. and the other works great with classical guitar or madrigals! G.
