Subject: Re: JBL 2105
Posted by Adrian Mack on Wed, 10 Dec 2003 12:31:30 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Oh man.... and there was a pair of JBL 2105s in good condition on eBay AUSTRALIA, my own country about a month or two ago. I was sitting here at the computer wondering to myself, should I buy it or not. They wern't even going for that much. They looked pretty nice so I was going to buy them, but I was thinking, "Whats the point if I have no use for them except to stare at them". WHY DIDN'T I BUY IT? !! I wish I had now. Got some ideas off high eff forum about using a phase plug and a little larger throat, a round throat too to reduce more phase cancellations above 1KHz, perhaps I can get more response doing this. I am going to kick myself for not buying those 2105's. I can only hope that they would not have worked good for me, I'll never know now.