I've used the H295, H395 and LT350. I think George (replay) has used the H395. They all sound reasonably good, and act as you might expect. The LT350 is louder, on-axis, and has narrower dispersion, but only at high frequencies. Vocal frequencies can be heard loudly clear around the corner, far off axis. The H295 and H395 have wider dispersion at higher frequencies, but also need more EQ up there.
