Anyone seen Fostex's wooden horns? They have a 2" model (H200), and two 1" models (H300 and H400). Radial flare. Since fostex only provide poor quality black and white pictures of their horns (*&^@#!!!) I searched the net and found some colour ones. pictures from http://melhuish.org/audio/DIYBX14.htmlThey look nice but they are very very expensive :P H400 is something like ~$500 each (shown above), and the other models are even more. I think they arn't as "dazzling" as Martinelli's horns, but they probably sound really good (they better well for the price!).
