AudioRoundTable.com would like to welcome our two newest sponsors, Approved Audio Service and FSAudioWeb. We're proud to include them here at the Round Table. Approved Audio Service is an electronics repair company in Bantam Connecticut that does quality service for all high-fidelity equipment, including audio, video, pro gear and even loudspeaker reconing. So if you have problems with your fine high-fidelity gear, please consider using them for all your repair work. FSAudioWeb is a high-end distributor of quality sound equipment. Be sure to visit their web site because you'll be impressed with the line-up, and also check out the new forum hosted by FSAudioWeb. Frank promises to disclose some of the tips of the trade, things like how to shop for high-end gear, what to look for and how to assess the benefits, both tangible and intangible alike. His forum proves to be most interesting. We at AudioRoundTable.com are very pleased to be affiliated with these fine sponsors.
