

---

Subject: Re: 2Pi Tower dampening

Posted by Wayne Parham on Thu, 18 Mar 2004 20:38:08 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

The HK 3470 is actually a modern receiver. I bought one from Crutchfield a year or two ago, just to see what it sounded like. Seemed like a good entry-level system for use with small two-way afraid that you might make the speaker a bit boomy. If you add too much insulation material, it will increase the virtual size of the cabinet. So if you're using R13, I suggest you only line the front, top and one side.

---