Hellol appreciate the sentiment, but you won, no big deal. On the other hand, if you don't need them (which I assume you do) and were just after them to have them, (I buy lots of altec for no other reason than it looks like a good deal!) Then I am interested. Please don't feel obligated, you won fair and square. On the off chance you are interested in any altec high frequency drivers, I have several I am not using that we could trade for. I will have to look to make sure, but I believe I have a working pair of 802 8d with aluminum altec diaphragms, two pairs of 802 8D without diaphragms, 808-8B with symbiotic altec diaphragms, and a set of 908-8B with altec symbiotic diaphragms. The 808 and 908 are VERY nice condition, The 802 look older of coarse, but are in working order. Regards, Russellc
