Hi guysI have a pair of 2225's, and they're a good driver. But recently I found on eBay a pair of JBL 2226 drivers for AU$550/pair + postage, and theres no bidders yet, ends in about 3 days. Assuming (hoping!) price doesn't increase to major amounts - Is it worth buying these 2226's and selling my 2225's? I know theyre pretty similar, and both good. But I havn't used a 2226 before, so maybe somebody that has used both 2225 and 2226 can give there opinion. I'm just debating weather or not its worth it. Who knows, maybe all the bidders will come in at last minute and push the price to $1000, then I'll forget about it :pThe 2226's on eBay have recently been reconed with original JBL recone kits.
