Subject: Re: re size the opening of the mid horn
Posted by Wayne Parham on Tue, 27 Jul 2004 09:45:32 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

If you want a axisymmetric horn, that would be fine. I like the 90o dispersion because it works so well in the home, particularly in a cornerhorn. But if you want axisymmetric, you can certainly go with a different dimension. If they will be used in free space, you may want to make them larger.