Hi Wayne; Whatever happened to that woman that was arguing with you way back when ART was in its infancy. Ethics of posting rules or something, nice to have the ocassional feminine viewpoint, even in an argument, makes it seem more like home. I know two female engineers but they both went into patent law so they can afford pricey stuff and don't show any interest in design. I'm taking some courses at the community college; have you seen what these girls are wearing? or should I say not wearing. Hard to concentrate.
