Speakers. The answer is yes. We are an Eminence distributor, and we sell their entire line of more so than any other online distributor I'm aware of. So be sure to check our prices before you buy Eminence components. We have a large selection of speakers at different price points, as raw drivers, loudspeaker kits and fully completed loudspeaker systems. There are several designs available, and some of the drivers will swap with other models without a re-design being necessary. The decision to use a subset of the Eminence line in our kits and finished loudspeakers should not necessarily be seen as an indication that we prefer one driver over another. In some cases, this may be true but in others, it is simply a matter of product overlap. There are several
